Dear Friends and Fellow Republicans

More on the Stolen Election

Late last week, the once relevant Time Magazine did something that most of us could not believe, and which they must be regretting. They actually admitted there was a well planned well thought out way to steal the election from Donald Trump. Don't believe me, read this for yourself.

Several of you have asked me to stop talking about the 2020 election debacle, and that we need to move on to 2021. Sorry to have to tell you this, but we can not move on from 2020 into 2021, without understanding what occurred in 2020, and the only way we have a chance to win in 2021 is to learn the lessons from 2020, protect the integrity of future elections in Virginia, and then get our voters motivated and energized behind good candidates, and that will be how we can take back Virginia.

Laura Ingraham explains what occurred in November better than can I. Please take a few minutes to watch this video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=0cw03E2eoQU>

I have spoken with all but one of the statewide candidates for 2021, and each one agrees that Ballot Integrity will be first and foremost in voters minds both at the convention and come November. Those candidates who can come up with an action plan to ensure that each voter who casts a vote in Virginia is a legal vote, and do so in 2-3 sentences will go a long way to ensuring they win the nomination and thus the election. Democrats won't have Trump to kick around now, and will have to win this statewide election on their own. Call me a wide eyed optimist, but I don't see their anti police, anti child agenda getting them much of anywhere.

More on Liz Cheney.

Again, this is a hard one for me. I will always remember her as the cute cheerleader from the Class of 1984 in McLean - not as the woman who does not respect her own voters in her home state. But then maybe she's been away from Wyoming for too long.

The Congresswoman was interviewed (actually lobbed softballs by Chris Wallace), and if you fast forward to the 3:38 mark, she seems to imply that Trump supporters (and maybe Trump himself) are anti Semites. Ms. Cheney goes after Congresswoman Marjorie Green also in this nearly 12 minute video.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=G8ZuDvVivY>

For the record, I must state that regarding Ms. Green, some of her statements from earlier in her life are troublesome at best - nutty might even be a better way to describe them. But to give Ms. Green credit, she has admitted that a school shooting in Florida did actually happen, and that September 11 was not thing to do.

The job of the Conference Chair is to help get Republicans elected to office, not to publicly trash them in the way that Ms. Cheney seems to keep doing. If you want to bash someone for past misstatements or for past indiscretions, well then there is no one without sin. Heck I may be the biggest offender here.

I'm not here to bash Republicans, I'd rather be calling out Democrats to be honest. But Ms. Cheney needs to step up her game. And I am sorry to tell you Ms. Cheney, but this is no longer the party of the GOP Establishment, it is the party of Donald Trump, aka the GOP is the party of the common man and woman.

Welcome to Joe Biden's America

This weekend I was giving a speech to a conservative group, and was telling the people in the audience that whenever you see Democrats go wildly at some issue, always be careful, as magicians often do, they may be waving something shiny, so that they can actually go after something else.

This week was no different. They started talking about several different issues, and no one noticed something coming up in Congress: There is now serious talk about having Mr. Biden, by executive fiat, wipe out trillions of dollars of student loan debt that rich kids have built up. Guess who will bear the price tag for this - that's right - you and I. We common folk, who pay our debts, make our credit card and mortgage payments on time - may have to end up paying the debt of up to $50,000 in college tuition for spoiled rich kids who went after degrees which do not give anyone a realistic chance at making a living.

And now the radical leftists are going after an American icon, a woman who did nothing more than promoting shopping at small businesses instead of at Amazon. In last night's Super Bowl, Dolly Parton did a plug for shopping at small businesses. Amazon, and their other oligarch buddies, could not handle this, so these corporate fat cats had their big bully buddies at NBC etc go after Dolly for promoting mom and pop stores instead of giant corporations. Again don't believe me, read for yourself:

all of them at different events. So if you see me at an event with let's say Lance Allen, please do not read that as an endorsement. I want to make sure that each GOP candidate gets facetime with as many potential 6th Congressional District Delegates as possible, and I want to see each of you as well.

Welcome to Joe Biden's America.
