Dear Friends and Fellow Republicans

Leaders vs. Politicians

Hard times make for great men. And no one can ever be truly sure what they're capable of doing until they're put into a crisis. No matter what happens in Russia vs Ukraine, one thing that most everyone can agree on is that Volodymyr Zelensky - has gone from being seen as an afterthought in Ukrainian history, to their version of George Washington. Zelensky - a former actor and comedian, went from being on a Ukraine sitcom (ironically his TV show was about a comedian who wrote something about government corruption and then became President of Ukraine) to a guy who was seen as weak, to the moral leader of the Ukrainian people. Zelensky was oblivious to what was happening around him (so much so that as recently as 3 weeks ago he stated that the US intelligence is not seeing what I'm seeing) but has channeled his inner strength to be the face of all of Ukraine standing up to the Russian bully.

a ride. Zelensky has been rallying his countrymen during one of the worst times in Ukrainian history (and that's saying alot) to do their very most, and so far the Ukrainians have put a halt to the Russian onslaught.

Now on the other hand, take Justin Trudeau. When the Canadian truckers started their trek from Vancouver to Ottawa, Mr. Trudeau hid like a child. He then declared martial law and invoked the "Emergencies Act" which allowed the government to seize the bank accounts of anyone supporting the Canadian truckers. He sent in the Mounties who ended up running over and nearly killing an elderly woman. All this time Trudeau hid inside his mansion.

And now let's take our very own Joe Biden. Who while Ukraine was being invaded, Mr. Biden was in Delaware at the beach. I really don't have an issue with the leader of the free world taking time for himself. But I do have an issue with the leader of the free world leaving the White House when World War III may have been ignited - leaving the symbol of the United States and hiding so that no one could get to him. At these times we need leaders.

And make no mistake, the Ukraine invasion occurred specifically because of the weakness of Joe Biden and his regime. It is obvious that Mr. Biden handed Ole Vlad alot of financial power. Read here:

Maybe the harshest words should be saved for John Kerry, who was more worried about climate change than what was happening in East Europe. As the American Thinker said so very eloquently this weekend:

Of course as with everything and everyone from the Biden administration, Kerry's concerns are an ideological Potemkin village. A man who, with his wife, used to own a yacht and currently shares with her a private jet, 5 houses, and uncounted cars isn't concerned with the climate at all. He's just concerned with keeping a very big distance between the unwashed masses and himself. And if those unwashed masses are prevented from

And a special thank you to Governor Glenn Youngkin for his strong stance on ending Virginia's relationships with Russian business interests.

If there is one good thing coming from all this - more and more Americans are seeing that we have a weakling in the White House. Now we need to remove his enablers in the US Capitol and then impeach Joe Biden for allowing our southern border to be overrun.
