Dear Friends and Fellow Republicans

How Woke Corporate America Eats Their Own

Jennifer Sey has been in the public eye all of her life. 1st as an Olympic caliber gymnast in the 80's and then as the spokeswoman for Levis jeans, and then as the Vice President of Levis. During her career, Ms. Sey was a miracle worker - she believed in Levis all of her life, so much so that on a trip to Moscow in the 1980's, she brought Levis to trade with the Soviet kids.

She went to work for Levis in the 1990's, and then became Vice President of Levis. During her time at Levis, she was the main reason that sales doubled. However there was one problem. Ms. Sey refused to tow the woke corporate line. Ms. Sey cared more about her kids than towing a woke corporate line. Sey was worried about her kids and insane masking rules.

Sey was offered the job of President - if only she'd stop speaking out about how masks are harming our kids. So Ms. Sey did something that most would not do - she took a buyout of her contract at Levis and will be leaving the company soon. Ms. Sey's kids and our kids are more important to her than a quick buck.

The end result for Levis will likely be their sales will sag as they give up to the Twitter Mob, and forget that there is another America who does not live on social media, and is not work, and has traditional American values. Ms. Sey - like most other talented people, will find a new profession, and will continue to both make a good paycheck and take care of her family as she sees fit.

No Masks at the Super Bowl

While the elites of California were maskless at last night's Super Bowl (in defiance of a state law requiring masks through February 15 of this year) the California schools have some of the most stringent masking requirements in the USA. Watch the elites flaunt the laws of the state of California (including LA Mayor Eric Garcetti) while they make your pre K kid wear a mask.

The Bombing of Dresden - a 2nd Look

One thing that radical leftists are doing, is to try and make everything any American army has ever done in any war a war crime equal to anything Hitler has ever done. (The fact they're fine with Sheridan burning the Shenandoah Valley and leaving thousands of families to starve is perfectly acceptable to them - we won't discuss that here).

One of the lefties favorite subjects is the bombing of Dresden near the end of WWII. Dresden was leveled by Allied bombers, and historical revisionists have labeled the bombing of Dresden a war crime. It turns out that while the bombing of Dresden was harsh, that strategic bombing was being done by all sides and the Germans had done the same thing to London during the Battle of Britain.

The sad fact is, that Hitler and Tojo were fanatics leading a group of brainwashed maniacs, and the only way that WWII was going to be won was to take the war to the populace as a whole, and make them understand (against their own ideology) that the war was over, they were going to lose, and there needed to take the blinders off.

Neither the Japanese nor the Germans did this. The firebombing of cities is something that no decent human being should ever want to do. But sadly, enemy cities had to be firebombed in WWII to put an end to the war, and to save American lives. Is this tragic? Yes it's horrible. Was it the right thing to do? Yes.

For more read here and remember - radical leftists and their enablers in the MSM want you to believe that the bombing of Dresden is as bad as the Holocaust. They'll deny this - but the MSM supports such anti Semites as Ilhan Omar and AOC.
